DANVILLE REPUBLICANS ARE FIGHTING AMONG THEMSELVES.

The General was Expected There Last Night, but Failed to Appear Candidate Cornett Refused to Choose, DANVILLE, VA., Nov. 2.—Special.—The Republicans here are split into two factions, both claiming to be regular. One faction is led by J. R. Wilson (colored), who holds the position of chairman by appointment from Mahone, and by John H. Johnston, ex-postmaster. The other faction is led by W. J. Reid, who claims to be chairman by appointment of the Republicans in convention assembled, and by W. H. Pleasants (both colored). The Reid-Pleasants faction are opposing Cornett, the Republican nominee, and urging the negroes to obey Mahone and branch off in this election.

Cornett and Crockett, of Wytheville, had an engagement to speak here tonight under the auspices of the Wilson faction, and General Mahone was also expected to be present. Crockett and Mahone failed to show up, but Cornett came.

Mahone failed to show up, but Cornect came.

The Reid faction got up an opposition meeting and addressed a note to Cornett Inviting him to attend their meeting, as they claimed to be the regulars, and thus forcing upon the candidate the necessity of choosing between the factions. Cornett refused to attend this meeting and Reid and Pleasants heid forth at length. They denounced Cornett, Wilson and Johnston, and the other faction. Cornett addressed the other meeting. Both meetings were well attended.

NORFIDLE, WA. Nov. 22-Special—Governor O'Ferral received a tremendous ovation at the Academy of Music tonight, when he addressed nearly two thousand people, and held them spell-bound for more than two hours. It was the first time during the past ten years that the Governor has appeared before a Norfolk audience, and the people went wild. He was the only speaker with admitted time, and he delivered a grand or atten. It was the largest meeting of the campaign, and will do much good. Congressman Tyler was in the city, but had to go to a meeting in Berkley, where he spoke to several hundred people. The Democratic camp fires are burning brightly all over the district, and Tyler will win.

Governor O'Ferrail arrived here this morning and is stopping at the Atlantic Hotel. The Governor was visited this morning by a large number of leading Democrats, and reports that the outlook has improved all over the State during the past week. He addressed the largest meeting at the Academy of Music tonight held in the city for years. Governor O'Ferrail is very popular here, where his efforts to protect the oyster interests of the State are greatly appreciated. The Governor to-day has been informed that Colonel Lamb has charged that the Democratic party is destroying the coal trade, and he has secured facts which will knock the Colonel out of the water.

which will knock the Colonel out of the water.

Last year the Pocahontas Coal Company sold their product to the merchants of Norfolk in 10,000-ton lots at $2.5 per ton; at the same time they were selling to the New England dealer in 5,000-ton lots at $2.25 per ton, a discrimination against the home market.

Under the present tariff hill coal has been reduced in Norfolk to $2.56 per ton. Your correspondent called at the office of Colonel Lamb this morning, and learned that for the month of October the sale amounted to 18,8512-4 tons, one of the best months of the year Since the lat of January the sales have been 1,208,412-4 tons. Mr. Stevins, Colonel Lamb's chief clerk, says that the sales this year will teach two million tons, the best year in the history of the company, no previous year having attained so hish a mark.

FROMINITIONISTS FOR TYLER.

The Democrats of Norfolk are in good shape, and are fighting to win. This morning Mayor Pettit, Common-wealth's Attorney Baum and Justice Bur-roughs, all elected to office by the Pro-hibitionists, state that they intend to yote for Mr. Tyler.

NEBPORT NEW - DEMOURATS. A Pig Demonstration There Last Night.

Mr. Gowde's Speech.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Nov. 2.—Special.—One of the largest and most entuvalsate political demonstrations that ever took place in this section of Virginia was made by the Democrats of this city to-night. The torchlight procession was par-leipated in by hundreds, and the sidewalks were crowded. Buildings along the line of march were brilliantly library and the sidewalks were crowded. Buildings along the line of march were brilliantly library and the sidewalks were filled with persons cheering the parade. Music was furnished by three bands.

The young Democracy of Newport News, composed of those who are not yet old enough to enjoy the right of suffrage, made a fine showing. A large delegation from Hampton and mill Creek came over to take part in the parade. Democrats living in the surrounding county were also here in large numbers.

After parading the principal streets the procession marched to the open square at the corner of Washington avenue and Twenty-ninth street, where speeches were delivered by Hon. John Goode, Hon. Richard E. Beykin and others.

Mr. Goode's eloquent speech was earnest and convincing. His remarks were greeted with tumultuous applicates by the immense crowd. Mr. Boykin's speech was also a fine effort. He is a great favorite here, and created great enthusiasm by his earnest appeal to the Democrats to do their duty on November 6th.

The Democratic leaders here express the greatest condidence that Warwick county will give Mr. Tyler a handsome majority.

Rily To-Night.

ROANOKE, VA., Nov. 2.—Special.—
Hon. John E. Massey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, addressed a large meeting at the Opera House here to-night. He reviewed the history of the Democratic and Republican parties, showed that the former was national and the latter sectional, and that all the fills with which the country is now afflicted were brought about by Republican misrule and extravagance.

He ridiculed the Populist platform and said no man believed Rucker stood any chance of election to Congress. His allusions to Major Otey's opponents caused much laughter and applause, and in conclusion he asked all Democrats to stand firm and vote for Otey Congress on Tuesday.

The Democratic clubs of this city will hold a grand rally here to-morrow night, beginning with a torchight procession, headed by the Roanoke Machine Works band and ending with an address at the Academy of Music by Senator John W. Daniel and ex-Lieutenant-Governor J. Hoge Tyler.

har hall in Suffolk.

Suffolk, VA., Nov. 2.—Special.—The people of Suffolk turned out to-night to hear political speaking. Hon. R. C. Marshall, of Portsmouth, addressed the Democratic Club of Suffolk to-night at Old Armory Hall, on Bank street, in a speech showing up the Republicans as enemies of the South and stirred up much enthusiasm. This club now numbers 21s members. This town is aroused. The final rally will be next Monday night, when Hon. John Goode and Col. R. E. Boykin, of Smithfield, will speak at the City Hall. The Democratic apathy is decreasing and Nansemond will give a good majority for Tyler.

Col. William Lamb, of Norfolk, came ap on a tug and brought a crowd from Portsmouth and Norfolk, and specke in the City Hall to-night to an audience composed of whites and negroes. His speech was vold of argument and created little enthusiasm. The White-Borland Club mustered a small number. The Republicans have made a heavy effort but now realize their defeat.

The Republican candidate for Congress in the Fredericksburg district, Mr. McDonald, is not even a voter in that district, his name having been erased from the registration books of Northumberland county for non-residence, as he sold his home there and moved to Washington, and engaged in the wood and coal business in that city several years ago. But effrontery is characteristic of southern Republican politicians.—Alexandria Gazette.

The Mexican Boundary.

While the two Commissioners of the American and Mexican Governments, who have charge of the international noundary along the Rio Grande to the fulf, have hardly begun their labors and nave asked and been granted further boundary Commissions, who had charge if the dividing line west of El Pase to the Pacific, have about concluded their abors, at least the crops of engineers have done so.

They are at San Diego now and are dacing the last of the 28 monuments hat now mark the line between Mexicand the United lates from El Paso to the Pacific Ocean, a distance of about 700 miles. The Commissioners are Col. Earow, U. S. A.; Leeut Gallari, U. S. A., and Mr. Mossman of the United States Coast and Geodate Survey. Their staff of engineers, soldiers, and laborers numera about eighty. By agreement with Mexico any errors discovered in the crisical survey by the present Commission shall not be corrected, so far as ownership of territory is concerned. Few errors have been found in the first survey. The largest was along the New Mexico boundary, whereby time Sam gains nearly forty Square miles of land which the new survey shows to be in New Mexico.

Much of the trip of the Commission was through Arizona deserts. At times it cost 25 cents a gallon for water needed at certain remote points by a small party of men and horses. To set water there at all required four tanks holding 460 gallions each and drawn by four mules. The water in three tanks was exhausted and the tank sent back to the main camp in order to get the fourth tank to the point where observations were sought. The simply in the tank was sufficient to maintain several men and four mules until the return treamp. The water puestion is one of serious import on the desert. Thousands have perished along the boundary line, of thirst. During a march of se enty-one miles on the lesert, the surveyors counted 250 graves along the trail of the victims of thirst. If there was a slight barnacle goose left in the Orshades, i. e., the Orkley Islands, tourists would by this time have given a good account of it. There are now countries left now beyond the reach of steamers or railways, and if there is a spot never trodden by a European foot, that is the very spot which is sure to be fixed upon by some adventurous members of the Alpine Cub for their next expedition, Even Central Asia and Central Africa are no longer safe, and hence, no doubt, the great charm which attaches to a country like Thibet, now almost the only country some parts of which are still closed against European explorers.

It was in Thibet, therefore, that Mme. Blavatsky met her Mahatmas, who initiated her in the mysteries of Esoteric Bushhism. Mr. Sinnet claims to have followed in her footsteps, but has never described his or her route. Of course, if Mme. Blavatsky and Mr. Sinnet had only told us by what passes they entered Thibet from India, at what stations they halted, and in what language they communicated with the Mahatmas, it would not be courteous to ask any further questions. That there are Mahatmas in India and Thibet no one would venture to deny. The only doult is, whether these real Mahatmas know, or profess to know, anything heryond what they can, and what we can, learn from their sacred literature. If so, they have only to give the authorities to which they appeal for their esoteric knowledge, and we shall know at once whether they are right or wrong.

Their Sacred Canon is accessible to us as it is to them, and we could, therefore, very easily come to an understanding with them as to what they mean by Esoteric Buddhism. Their Sacred Canon exists in Sanskirt, in Chinese, and in Thibetand has at the same time been so minutely catalogued as that of the Buddhists in India, China, and Thibet.—The Nineteenth Century.

Oliver Wendell Holmes,

Whitter did much mere than Holmes

Offver Wendell Holmes,

Whittier did much more than Holmes to soften the Puritan theology, but Holmes did vastly more than Whittier to soften the Puritan temper of the community. And here was his most characteristic work. He was neither stoic nor ascetic, neither indifferent to life's sweet and pleasast things, nor, while hankering for their possession, did he repress his noble rage and freeze the genial currents of his soul. His was "an undisquised enjoyment of earthly while hankering for their possession, did he repress his noble rage and freeze the genial currents of his soul. His was "an undisguised enjoyment of earthly comforts." a happy confidence in the excellence and giory of our present life; a persuasion, as one has said, that "if God made us, then he also meant us," and he held to these things so carnestly, so pleasantly, so cheerly, that he could not help communicating them to everything he wrote. They pervade his books and poems like a most subtile essence, and his readers took them in with every breath. Many entered into his labors, and some, no doubt, did more than he to save what was best in the Puritan conscience while softening what was worst in the Puritan temper and what was most terrible in the Puritan theology. But it does not appear that any one else did so much as Dr. Holmes to change the social temper of New England, to make it less harsh and joyless, and to make easy for his fellow-countrymen the transition from the old things to the new. And it may be that here was the secret, in good part, of that great and steadily increasing affection which went out to him in the later lastrums of his life. It was recognized, of felt with dim half-consciousness, that here was one who had made life better worth the living, who removed the interdict on simple happiness and pure delight, who had taken an intolerable burden from the heart and bade it swell with gladness in the good world and the good God. Whatever the secret, it is certain that no man among us was more widely loved, or will be more sincerely mourned.—John W. Chadwick, in the November Forum.

The Athletic Club team of Hampton, Va., met its defeat here this evening in foot-ball with the Washington and Lee University by a score of 14 to 6. Twenty-five-minute halves were played. The heavy build of the visitors made odds largely against the home team, but the University had the advantage in skillful playing and concert of action, and the weight of Hampton did not count. It. Malt a Million and Two Lives Lost.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 2.—Just as the men were going to work in the big beef-house of the liammond packing plant at South Omaha, at 7 o'clock this morning, flames were discovered in the second floor and quelity spread to the third and fourth floors. As soon as the fire was discovered the private fire department of the Hammond's started to fight the flames, but the pressure was so light that it was impossible to accomplish anything. Word was at once sent to Omaha, and all the available apparatus was hurried to the scene, for, as a high wind was blowing, the fire threatened to spread to the house of Swift & Co. and to the stock yards. All the efforts of the firemen were confined to keeping the firefrom spreading, as there was no possible show of saving the big beef-house, a four-story structure, 200 by 200 feet, which originally cost $200,000 and was filled with valuable machinery and a large amount of beef.

The efforts of the firemen to confine the flames to this house proved successful, but only at the cost of two lives. At Il o'clock one wall of the burning building fell, and two firemen belonging to the private department of the packing company were burled under tons of burning timber and red-hot brick.

The killed were John Steele and Henry Peters.

The killed were John Steele and Henry Peters.

It was two hours before their remains were uncovered. When taken out of the debris both men were still grasping the hose nozzle they were holding when their lives were crushed out. Steele was married only last Wednesday. The insurance on the property destroyed amounts to $23,600, and the loss will be almost double that amount.

A Speaker Stoned.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 2.—The campaign of Tom Johnson has been full of sensations. One of the methods he has employed has been the engagement of Bill Radeliffe, a corn salve peddler, of Youngstown, who, mounted on an express wagon, with a little black-board, gave "chalk talks" illustrating the beauties of free trade and single tax. Radcliffe was unique and a big success.

Vesterday a strange wagon and a strange orator arrived on the scene. Tolis speaker was 1. H. Lewis, lately released from the Ohio penitentiary. He began a ridiculous morologue, which he said he was delivering in the interest of Hon. T. E. Burton, the Republican congressional "candidate. The crowd began to "guy" Lewis, and the latter grew profane. In a minute rocks began to fly, and two members of the Republican committee appeared and tried to drive Lewis away. Lewis protested that he was employed by Mr. Burton, and refused to go. The sheriff and his deputy came to the scene and got Lewis away. This afternoon Lewis wrote a letter to the Cleveland World, claiming that Tom Johnson employed him to imitate Radcliffe, for the purpose of disgusting Republicans. A Speaker Stoned.

Democratic Caudidate for Chief Justice.

RALEIGH, N. C. Nov. 2.—J. C. L.
Harris, one of the most prominent Republican lawyers in the State, and who was one of the most prominent forces in the organization of the fusion movement in North Carolina, and the putting out of a Republican-Populist fusion judicial ticket against the regular Democratic ticket, headed by Chief Justice Shepherd, will publish a card in the Raleigh News and Observer to-morrow, strongly endorsing Chief Justice Shepherd. He says:
"Chief Justice Shepherd is the peer of any man who ever occupied a seat on the Supreme Court bench, and is entirely devoted to the performance of the high duties pertaining to the loftiest judicial station of the State, and in the discharge of these duties is totally blind to the fact that he is as chief justice a creature of any political party."

This card, coming from the recognized head of the Fusion movement in North Carolina, on the very eve of the election, will, doubtless, create a political sensation throughout the State. Democratic Caudidate for Chief Justice.

TRAPPED POLITENES . The Capture of a Lizzard With a Fritte

Bine Tail.

Blue Tail.

"In all my trave's after things that crawl and creep, said G. R. O'Reilly, the snake hunter, "I have never found any reptile as hard to capture as the big Trinidad lizard. He's a prize when you do capture him. Besides being very beautiful he is unique, so far as I know, for I never found any lizard like him anywhere else than on the island of Trinidad. In length he is about fifteen inches and is brown in color, with beautiful leopard spots. But his tail is his chief point of oeasty. It is a magnificent eridescent blue, such a hue as you find nowhere else in nature that I know of except in the big Brazilian sun butterfly, whose azure wings reflect the light like polished steel. This tail is as brittle as it is beautiful, and when the reptile is dug out of his hole the tail is invariably broken in the capture. Several lizards thus taken were sent to me but not one of them was intact.

would be feelest, for he would be at his hole long before the swiftest runner could evertake him. These fellows travel faster than any other reginal or crawling thing it is grievously increased by its necessary character.—The Spectator.

"O'Reilly, said Hart, eyeing me distrustfully. Either you're trying to make a guy of me or you're more of a blathering idot than I ever took you for, and that's useless.

"You can revile me all you want to," said I; 'only be courteous to the gentleman with the sky-blue tail over yonder and now begin. I'm most beautiful exhibition of gailantry that I have ever witnessed. Hart began by taking off his hat and making a low bow to the lizard. He assured the beast that he had no intention of intruding on its after-dinner sitesta' (bow and scrape), "but that the fame of the beauty of its iridescent tail' chand on heart and another bow) "had drawn him hither to observe a perctacle of magnificence such as never before had gladdenee his eyes" (three dance steps, two waves of the hat, and profound obeitsance). "For five minutes he would hear Broadway cackling from his perch in the tree like a whole flock of chickens. But you never saw anything so pleased as that lizard. The whole performance just took him by storm. He was immensely interested and amused and flattered, lieve was a very large two-legged animal capering before him in the most entertaining fashion, and making queer noises of a not unpleasant nature, entirely for his benefit; and all the time having the good taste to keep at a proper and respectful distance. What more could a lizard expect than to have amusement furnished for him at his own home? He cocked his head first on one side and then on the other. He blinked his eyes and gently waved his tail. A more contented lizard couldn't be found in all Trinidad.

"While the performance was going on I had made a detour and was nearing a spot where I would be between the quarry and his bole. The lizard was too much attracted by Hart's continuous performance to pay any attention to me, and presently I found myself within a few yards of him and just behind him, About this item in notice that have been of health from the sea-the bracing effects of a stay in the mountains-the toning up qualities of absolute restthat rest which is so necessary to the weary wife, the overworked father - may be found in
